

Getting here.

1) From the Northeast Amtrak corridor (Boston to Washington DC): you can take Amtrak. The trains arrive to New Haven Union Station, which is a 15–20-minute walk from the hotel.

From elsewhere, you likely need to fly. Here is the list of airports in the decreasing order of proximity. Note that there is an airport in New Haven served by Avelo and Breeze with constantly expanding service but it's unlikely to serve your home city at this time of the year.

1) BDL: this airport is located near Hartford, CT, and is about 50-60 minute from New Haven by car. Alternatively, one can take Uber/Lyft/taxi to Hartford and then take a Hartford Line train to New Haven State St station, which is in downtown. BDL is served by most of the major airlines.

2) LGA: the closest New York City airport. From LGA one can take Uber/Lyft/taxi or public transportation to Harlem/125 St Metro North station and then Metro North to New Haven arriving to Union Station (appr. 2 hours).

3) EWR: one of the two major NYC area airports. There are several direct Amtrak trains between EWR and New Haven. Or one can take NJ Transit to New York Penn Station and then Amtrak to New Haven.

4) JFK: the other major NYC airport. One can commute to New York Penn and then take Amtrak. Or commute to Grand Central Terminal and take Metro North.
